All aspects were positive, like visits to historical places, contact with other teachers and students, the warm welcome.

It was so fun and helpful for English.

I didn't like that we had to wear FPF masks but thats all. Everything else was good!

In Sicily people is so kind and helpful, everyone was so happy to welcome us. I don't have any negative aspects, because everything was so good and it was even better when we got to know each other.

Positive aspects are meeting the culture and people in Sicily, meeting other students and teachers from different countries, tasting the Italian food, visiting natural beauties and historical sights.

During my visit to Sicily, I can say that it had only positive sides, because I improved my language and communication skills, first travelled alone without my family and learned more about Italy, specifically Sicily.

Sicily is a beautiful country and I'd love to visit it again someday!
